- Interests
- Working with computers, and working with technology is one of my passions. I started thinking about working in graphics design and create video games and new programs for computers, but the road of my career changed when I realized that there were more opportunities for me in the medical field. After job shadowing in a couple of hospitals, I decided to shift my career to be an x-ray technician, because I will be working with x-rays and computers at the same time.
